- In addition to the main event, there will be a duos mode showmatch, open for competitors through the FACEIT platform.

The first international PUBG competition of the year will be held at London's ExCeL centre, from April 16-21. The FACEIT Global Summit: PUBG Classic will feature 24 qualifying teams from the PUBG national professional leagues. Conditions for qualification, prize-pools, and sponsors have not yet been announced. The Esports Observer will update this article when more details become available.

In addition to the main event, there will be a duos showmatch (an alternate game mode featuring two-player teams), featuring six teams who took part in the FACEIT PUBG Showdown. PUBG Corp. and FACEIT first partnered in August 2018, with FACEIT using its platform to create a progression system for players, building a path to the professional leagues.

The FACEIT Global Summit: PUBG Classic will be the end of the first phase of the 2018-19 PUBG esports calendar. Two more international events will take place in July and November, with the latter being a $2M USD prize pool Global Championship. The leagues, which cover nine regions in total, are largely run by third-party companies, such as Starladder and OGN, and are to feature a profit-sharing model that includes coverage of team expenses.
